Understand challenges and opportunities

To make an effective investment, you need to identify the high-value content and processes your organization depends on. The ECMecosystem assessment gives a clear overview of current-state business problems, drivers for change, and the technical requirements of future-state goals.

Build organizational consensus

An ImageSource professional team engages line of business leaders and IT staff to create a model of internal processes. Stakeholder goals and objectives are documented in the final report, with specific next steps and recommendations to achieve your organizational goals.

Turn assessment into action

The ECMecosystem engagement results in defined business requirements, specific technology recommendations, and an actionable deployment strategy. It can be utilized as a Request For Proposal template or as a project charter to take you through the next steps.

Technical Highlights

1. Current state analysis
